

WEBSITE REDESIGN OF PROVOICE GREETINGS

ProVoice Greetings, redesigned and reengineered their web site with contemporary user-ability to present same great product and introduce new services offerings

ProVoice Greetings was founded on the principle that a complete business presentation includes audio as well as visual features and specializes in professional audio talent. They offer only the highest quality sound recordings. It was time to redesign their own visual presentation to better reflect their outstanding services and introduce some of their new service offerings. ProVoice has expanded its offerings to include international voice talents, translation services and a better showcase of our talent to more than just voicemail and IVR services. ProVoice fulfills the entire audio voice talent needs like radio ads, voice overlay for YouTube, Power Point presentations, training videos, and book readings to name a few. We wanted to better show case our full range of audio talents capabilities.

This redesign features a contemporary new look, easy access for returning customers, well defined text and easy navigation, talent samples and uncomplicated ordering. With their new look, ProVoice Greetings, remains dedicated to the same standards of service and quality of all their products, but now looks good doing so.
